

MRS. BARBARA HALL FALLON 1987

Before Barb Hall made a name for herself as an All-American on the NCAA Division II Bloomsburg Huskies' powerhouse basketball team, she blistered competition throughout the Central Susquehanna Valley as a three-sport standout at Warrior Run. When you talk about some of the athletic greats that have come through the area, Barb's name always comes up, whether you are discussing male or female athletics. Today, Barbara Hall Fallon becomes a member of the inaugural class of the Warrior Run School District Hall of Fame.

A member of the Class of 1987, Barb earned local, regional and state recognition as a member of the Defender field hockey, basketball and track and field squads. It was on the hardwood, however, that Barb stood head and shoulders above the competition. At 6-feet, 2-inches, Barb utilized her size and skillful shooting and her touch with the pass to establish herself during her four years in Turbotville as one of the best to ever wear the Defender uniform. Barb shattered the girls all-time scoring mark and surpassed 1,000 career points during her senior campaign. Barb achieved the milestone with her fourth point at Warrior Run's Middle School gym with 1:33 left in the first quarter of a game the Defenders eventually won over Shikellamy. "She's been very instrumental to establishing our program," said then-coach Bill Higgins, who earned his 199th career victory that night. "She's a very unselfish girl. She's usually the first girl at practice and the last to leave."

As a freshman, she made an immediate impact as a member of Higgins' program, earning honorable mention West Branch All-Star status. After her sophomore campaign, she earned first team All-Star status and was tapped as the team's Most Valuable Player. During her junior and senior seasons, Barb was again tapped as the team's Most Valuable Player, and she added Susquehanna Valley League first team All-Star nods to her list of accomplishments as well as Daily Item and Reading Eagle all-regional team recognitions. Barb was instrumental in Warrior Run's District 4 championship runs during the 1985-86 and 1986-87 seasons. During her senior campaign, Barb guided the Defenders to an undefeated regular season.

In addition to being a four-year standout on the basketball team, Barb also established herself as a stellar field hockey player, earning varsity letters in each of her four years at Warrior Run High. Barb earned Susquehanna Valley League second team All-Star status during her junior campaign and was tapped the team's Most Valuable Player a season later, also earning first team league nods during her senior season. When Barb showcased her talents during the spring, it was as a standout tossing the shot put and javelin. As a junior, Barb became the first Warrior Run girl to qualify for the PIAA Championships as the District 4 champion in both the shot and the javelin. Her junior year also saw Barb honored as Warrior Run's Outstanding Girls Track and Field Athlete at season's end.

During her senior season, she again padded her resume, racking up Daily Item Athlete of the Week nods as well as earning another trip to the PIAA Championships, where she brought home a fifth place finish in the shot put. Upon graduation, Barb earned a slot on the Huskies hoops roster and earned a name for herself nationally racking up a pair of Kodak All-American honorable mention nods during her junior and senior seasons. As a Husky, Hall also earned the team's Most Valuable Player Award and was named the Most Valuable Player for her play in the NCAA East Regional. Barb helped lead the Huskies to a pair of undefeated regular seasons and a No. 1 Division II national ranking. A career 1,000-point, 1,000-rebound player, Barb was named the Senior Female Athlete of the Year at Bloomsburg and in 2004 was inducted into the Bloomsburg University Sports Hall of Fame. In 1999, Barb was named to the Daily Item All-Century Team.

Today, Barbara Hall Fallon is married to James Fallon and has two sons, Logan, 6, and Jace, 4. Barb teaches sixth grade math at Marion Middle School, part of the Smyth County School District in Marion, Va. Prior to her move to Virginia, she taught in the Warrior Run School District as well as the Montgomery School District.

He is also the Vice Chairman of the Stafford County, VA Economic Development Authority and Chairman of the Fredericksburg Region Military Affairs Council.

MR. HARRY MATHIAS, JR. 1980

To call Harry Mathias Jr. well-rounded is a bit of an understatement. Harry has been successful in everything he has attempted whether it is dedicating his efforts to performing on the baseball diamond, where he played at Division I Bucknell University; coaching football, where he guided Central Columbia to a 48-15-1 mark over five seasons; or as an academic, where he earned deans list status at Bucknell University three times.

As a professional, Harry has established himself as a leader in the community as an officer with the United Way of Columbia County and as an educator and administrator within the Central Columbia School District. It is for this wealth of talent and years of service that Harry Mathias Jr. is inducted into Warrior Run School District Hall of Fame as a member of its inaugural class.

Harry, a member of the Class of 1980, excelled in baseball as a Defender, earning Most Valuable Player accolades in 1980. As a member of the Warrior Run football team, he was part of the 1978 West Branch Division II championship team and received the Football and Citizenship Award in 1979. During his senior year, Harry was also feted with the Outstanding Scholar Athlete Award. Harry proved himself a leader in the classroom as well earning the Young American of the Month Award and the Student Council Boy of the Year Award. Harry was a three-year member of student council and served as President of the Class of 1980.

Upon graduation, Harry continued his education at Bucknell University, where he continued his baseball career as well. He was tapped for the 1983 East Coast Conference Academic Honor Roll and earned honorable mention plaudits on the Academic All-America Team. With bachelors and masters degrees in hand, Harry began his teaching career at Central Columbia High. Beginning as a high school math and computer teacher, he soon became the Blue Jays football coach, a position he held for five years, guiding Central Columbia to three Central Susquehanna Conference championships while earning three CSC Coach of the Year honors. Harry guided the Blue Jays to the District 4 championship on three occasions and led Central to the state playoffs in 1994. For his work, he was recognized as the Daily Item Coach of the Year in 1993 and the Reading Eagle Anthracite Region Coach of the Year in 1992. While at Central Columbia, he also served as assistant baseball coach from 1985-1994 and helped the Jays achieve four District 4 titles and a state championship in 1991. After a successful run at the scholastic level, Harry took his coaching talents to Bloomsburg's successful Division II football program as an assistant football coach from 1995-97. The Huskies won PSAC titles in each of those three years and went to the NCAA Division II playoffs in 1996. Harry wrapped his 10-year tenure as math and computer teacher in 1994 to become Centrals curriculum coordinator in 1994, a position he held through 2000, when he accepted the position of superintendent. Harry also serves as an adjunct professor of education at the University of Scranton. While at Central Columbia, he has been tapped for the PDE Mathematics Standards Task Force and Who's Who Among Americas Teachers.

Harry helped earn Central the 2001 Omaha Foundation Top Four Technology School in the U.S. as well. In Columbia County, Harry has been active with the United Way, where he served on the board of directors from 1997-2003. He has held the title of vice president, president and treasurer and was campaign chairman during the 2005 campaign, helping to raise more than $528,000. He also served on the Central Pennsylvania Workforce Investment Board and the Central Pennsylvania Youth Council. Today, Harry lives in Columbia County with his wife, Bridget, and his six-year-old son, Nathaniel Aaron.
